Make Holiday Memories with Seniors

Take on these simple projects with seniors to make special holiday memories together this season. The crafts are easy and fun.

Part of the joy of the holidays is making memories together. Senior mobility and energy may be limited, but making simple crafts at home are special ways to brighten the holidays.

5 Nostalgic Projects to Make This Holiday Season

These crafts are fit for seniors because they are calm and simple. They're also nostalgic, adding joy to the time spent making them. Seniors might also enjoy making these crafts to give as gifts over the holidays.

1

Recycled Card Bookmarks

Use ribbon, glue, and old Christmas cards to make simple bookmarks.

2

Mason Jar Snow Globes

Encourage seniors to put knick-knacks collected over the years in their mason jar snow globes. Only a few materials are needed.

3

Memento Ornaments

Clear, hollow ornaments can be fun to fill with special mementos. These are often valued as priceless memory holders and conversation pieces.

4

Scrapbooks/Photo Albums

Good old-fashioned scrapbooking allows seniors to reminisce and share stories with a sense of purpose and delight.

5

Needlework/Sewing Projects

There are a ton of easy, fast, adult crafts seniors can make using fabric, needle, and thread (or yarn). Search online for adult sewing ideas and directions.

Benefits of Crafting for Seniors

Making something offers a number of benefits to seniors, especially during the holidays.

Benefits include:

- A sense of purpose
- The joy of giving gifts
- Fun and laughter
- Something to share with others
- Nostalgic feelings and reminiscing
- Honing skills
- Learning something new
- Memory making
- Conversation starters
- Adding cheer to living environment
- Mental boosts

Home Care Tip

Some seniors' fine motor skills deteriorate over time. If that is the case, offer to help seniors write cards and select crafts that don't require precision. Seniors should retain a sense of ownership over projects, even if they are unable to do some of the tasks independently.

Make Holiday Projects More Special

Whether seniors really love making crafts or not, spending time working on projects over the holiday can create precious, joyful memories. There are many ways to make these activities more meaningful to seniors:

- Turning on holiday music while crafting
- Planning projects as gifts to loved ones
- Inviting friends or family to participate
- Using the projects to decorate
- Encouraging storytelling and memory-sharing while crafting
- Completing projects to donate to charity
- Incorporating mementos or favorite knick-knacks into crafts
- Making regular time to work on crafts over the season
